STORMY SCENE IN PRAGUE

Czech And German Students Clash

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 24, 7.30 p.m.)

Prague, Nov. 24. Stormy scenes resulting in clashes between Czech and German students arose from a Government decree ordering the handing over of all old emblems and insignia of the German University here. The categorical refusal given by the German University authorities started a riot. Large crowds of Czech students headed by the "protector" demonstrated before the German University, hurling stones, breaking windows and bursting in doors, and literally storming the building. A furious fight took place, both sides using chairs, tables and ink wells as weapons.

The police at first refused to intervene out of respect for the ancient tradition of non-interference with University ructions, but ultimately were forced to take a hand when the ejected Czechs resumed demonstrations in front of the University.

JAPANESE DIET SESSION

Premier Assured Of Support

Tokyo, Nov. 24. The Japanese Premier, Admiral Okada, to-day called for leaders of the Selyukai and Minseitō Party presidents at the House of Peers and the House of Representatives to seek their assistance and co-operation at the extra session of the Diet which opens on November 27.

ADMIRAL OKADA

A hot discussion is expected in the Diet, chiefly regarding the proposed reform of the Japanese administrative organization in Manchuria and the rehabilitation programme following the recent typhoon, floods, and famine in the northern provinces.

The Government, however, is understood to have been assured of hearty assistance by the party leaders as the result of Admiral Okada's interview with them.

NO COLLECTIVE PEACE

With Powers Out Of The League

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

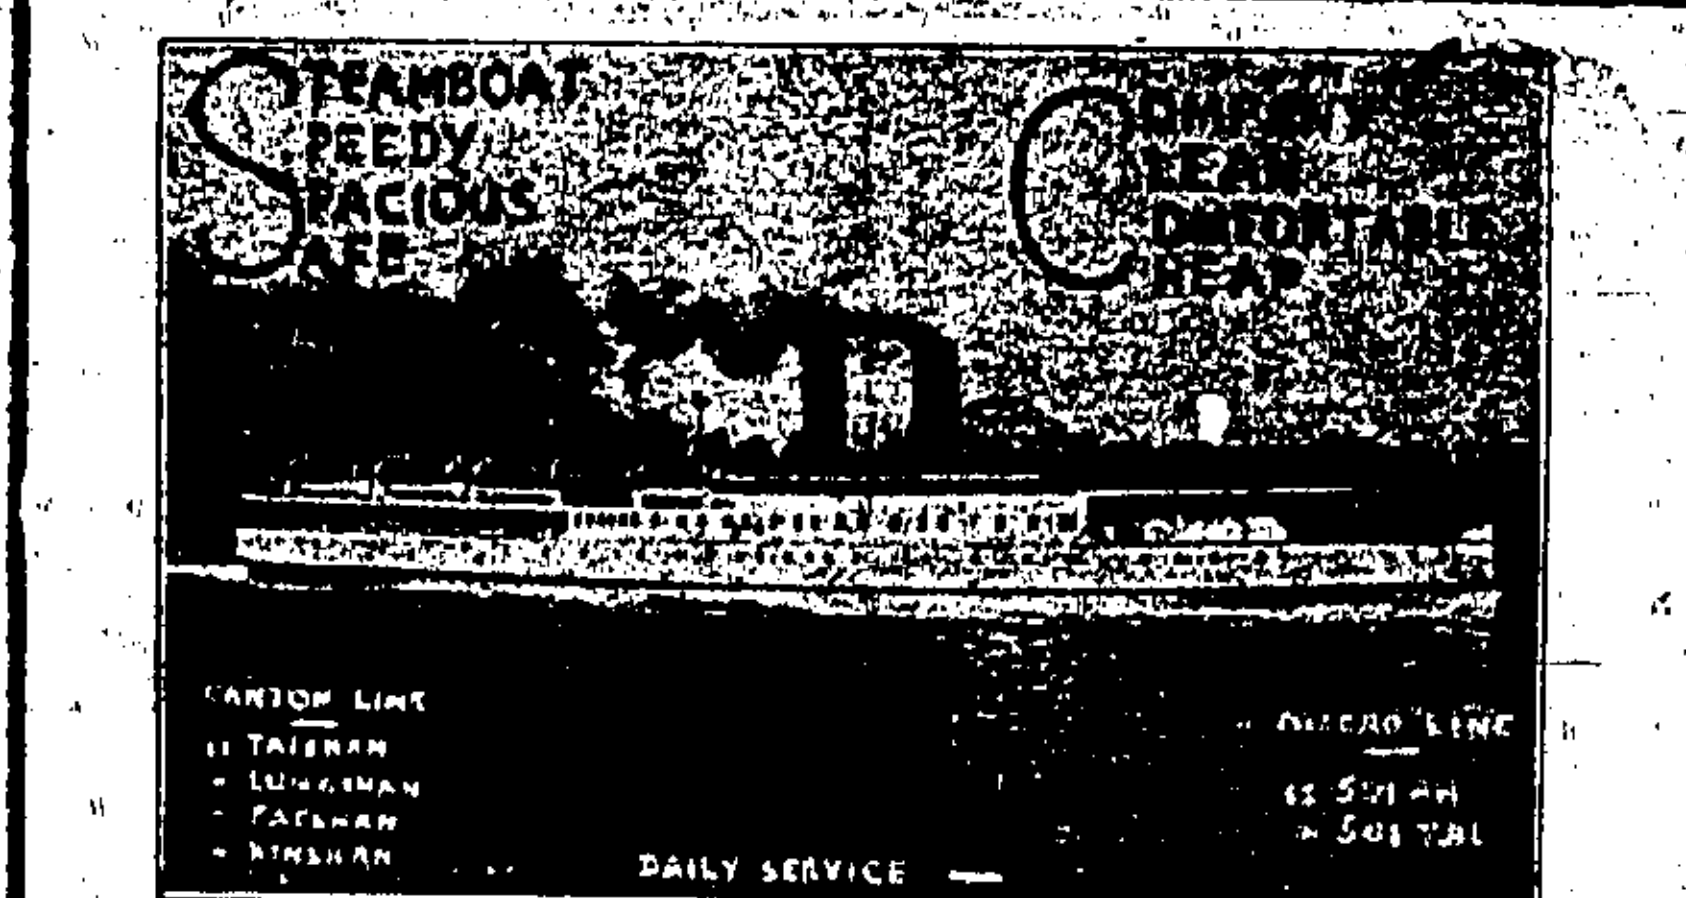

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 25, 4.30 a.m.)

London, Nov. 24.

Speaking at Glasgow, Mr. Stanley Baldwin declared that "without Germany, United States and Japan there would never be collective peace." In his view it would be very difficult to bring about such peace in view of the fact that the United States is not yet a member of the League of Nations and in view of the fact also that both Germany and Japan have withdrawn from the League.

England, so Mr. Baldwin declared, must not only bring about the status quo in the League again but must also try to bring the United States into that circle.

HOME FOOTBALL RESULTS Arsenal's Bad Luck

The Arsenal were decidedly unlucky at Chelsea where they were leading by 5-2 when the game had to be abandoned after 80 minutes' play owing to dense fog, more especially when both Sunderland and Stokes, the leaders, went down to West Bromwich and Grimsby respectively.

The leadership in the Second Division is also unchanged, both Bolton and Brentford winning their games.

In the two sections of Third Division there was only one match (Luton beating Millwall), as most clubs were engaged in the first round of the Football Association Cup.

Charlton, the leaders of the Southern Section of the Third were held to a draw by Exeter; Reading (by beating Cardiff), and Coventry entered the next round of the Cup.

Of the Northern section, Third leaders Tranmere have gone through but both Halifax and Stockport were held by Hartlepool and Blyth, in the Cup.

The Scottish League table shows no change over the week-end. The Rangers won from Queen's Park, but Hamilton were forced to a draw.

AEROPLANE SLEEPERS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 3.

Mrs. Tate, the M.P. for West Willesden, returns from the United States a profound admirer of civil aviation in that country. She was greatly impressed by the comfort of the transatlantic air service.

"Not until I had actually slept in a sleeper plane," she declared, "could I possibly know what the degree of comfort was."

She means to raise in Parliament the question of British handicaps in commercial flying.

TWO BODIES ON A BEACH

Tropical Island Mystery

New York, Nov. 24.

The mystery surrounding the recent gruesome discovery of two bodies on the beach of the waterless tropical island of Marchena, in the Galapagos group, has now been solved, states the "Associated Press."

A wireless message received from the skipper of the clipper, North-Western, reports that the dead bodies are those of two men, Arthur Estampa, a Norwegian, who owned a plantation at Santa Cruz Island, and a friend Rudolf Lorenz, who was born in Germany.

The skipper believes that the victims were sailing 40 miles from Charles Island, where Lorenz was living, to Santa Cruz Island. The vessel, apparently, was driven off its course and was wrecked on Marchena Island, where the pair perished of thirst and starvation.

The parcel of infants' clothes, apparently, was a gift from friends on Charles Island for the young wife of Estampa, who only arrived from Norway last year, and who was anxiously waiting at Santa Cruz Island.

An earlier report said that a ship, passing the island recently, saw two bodies lying on the beach, about 50 feet apart. Some infant's clothing on a broken pole was lying nearby.

It was then thought that the couple were German "Paradise seekers." Mr. and Mrs. Wittmer, who were known to have visited the Galapagos group some time ago.

SOCONY-VACUUM BONDS

Big Redemption Scheme

New York, Nov. 24.

Following the recent example set by other leading oil companies, the Socony Vacuum Corporation will redeem two bond issues on February 15, 1935, totalling U.S. $28,000,000. These will be the Standard Oil Company of New York 4 1/2 centum debentures and the General Petroleum Company 5 per cent. bonds, both of which are due in 1940.

The necessary funds will be obtained by bank loans maturing half yearly at substantially reduced interest rates. Upon the completion of the transaction the Socony Vacuum Corporation will have reduced the funded debt to U.S. $50,000,000.

WEDDING GIFT PRESENTED

Lord Mayor Visits Palace

London, Nov. 23.

The Lord Mayor of London, wearing his robes of office, and the Sheriffs and Aldermen, drove to Buckingham Palace to-day in four coaches followed by members of the City Corporation in fifteen motor cars, to present formally the City's wedding gift of plate and jewellery to the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina.

It is many years since the Lord Mayor has made a semi-state visit to the Palace.

Other deputations bearing presents, including Mr. Montagu Norman as Governor of the Bank of England, were also received by the Duke and Princess.

The King of Norway, who is to attend next week's wedding arrived at North Shields to-day.

The King and Queen of Sweden are due on Monday.

On the evening of that day the King and Queen are giving a state banquet at Buckingham Palace in honour of the King and Queen of Denmark, who are also to be their guests for the wedding.

ATLANTIQUE FIRE

Electric Defects Alleged

Paris, Nov. 23.

"Electricity was wandering all over the ship at its own sweet will," declared counsel for the insurers of the burned French liner, Atlantique, during the continued hearing of the law suit in the Appeal Court here.

It was alleged that the insulation of certain electric cables aboard the vessel was only for 4,000 ohms, whereas 500,000 ohms was insisted upon by Messrs. Veritas, and 1,000,000 ohms by the Germanica Lloyd firm.

It was contended that the non-disclosure of the state of the electric wiring automatically annulled the insurance policy.

Counsel declared that there were 24 miles of wiring on the Atlantique which was fitted in a most unsatisfactory manner. Also, there was too much wood used in the ship's construction and too much nitro-cellulose paint, which the Government had since prohibited for use on ships.

CUSTODY OF HEIRESS

Mrs. Vanderbilt's Action

New York, Nov. 23.

The Appellate Court to-day granted the application of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt requiring Judge Carew to show cause why a writ should not be issued calling upon him to sustain or dismiss her writ of "habeas corpus" in connection with the custody of her daughter, Gloria, heiress to her late husband's $4,000,000 estate.

Judge Carew must comply before November 30.

The purpose of the application is to force Judge Carew to give a definite decision against which Mrs. Vanderbilt can appeal to a higher court.

Judge Carew awarded to Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Gloria's aunt, custody of the child for five days each week and allowed Mrs. Vanderbilt her daughter's company only on week-ends for a month of holidays each year.

MARRIAGE OF SIR MILES LAMPSON

London, Nov. 23.

Two days ago his engagement to Jacqueline, daughter of Sir Aldo and Lady Castellani, was announced.

NEW GARDENS OPENED

Link With Royalty

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 3.

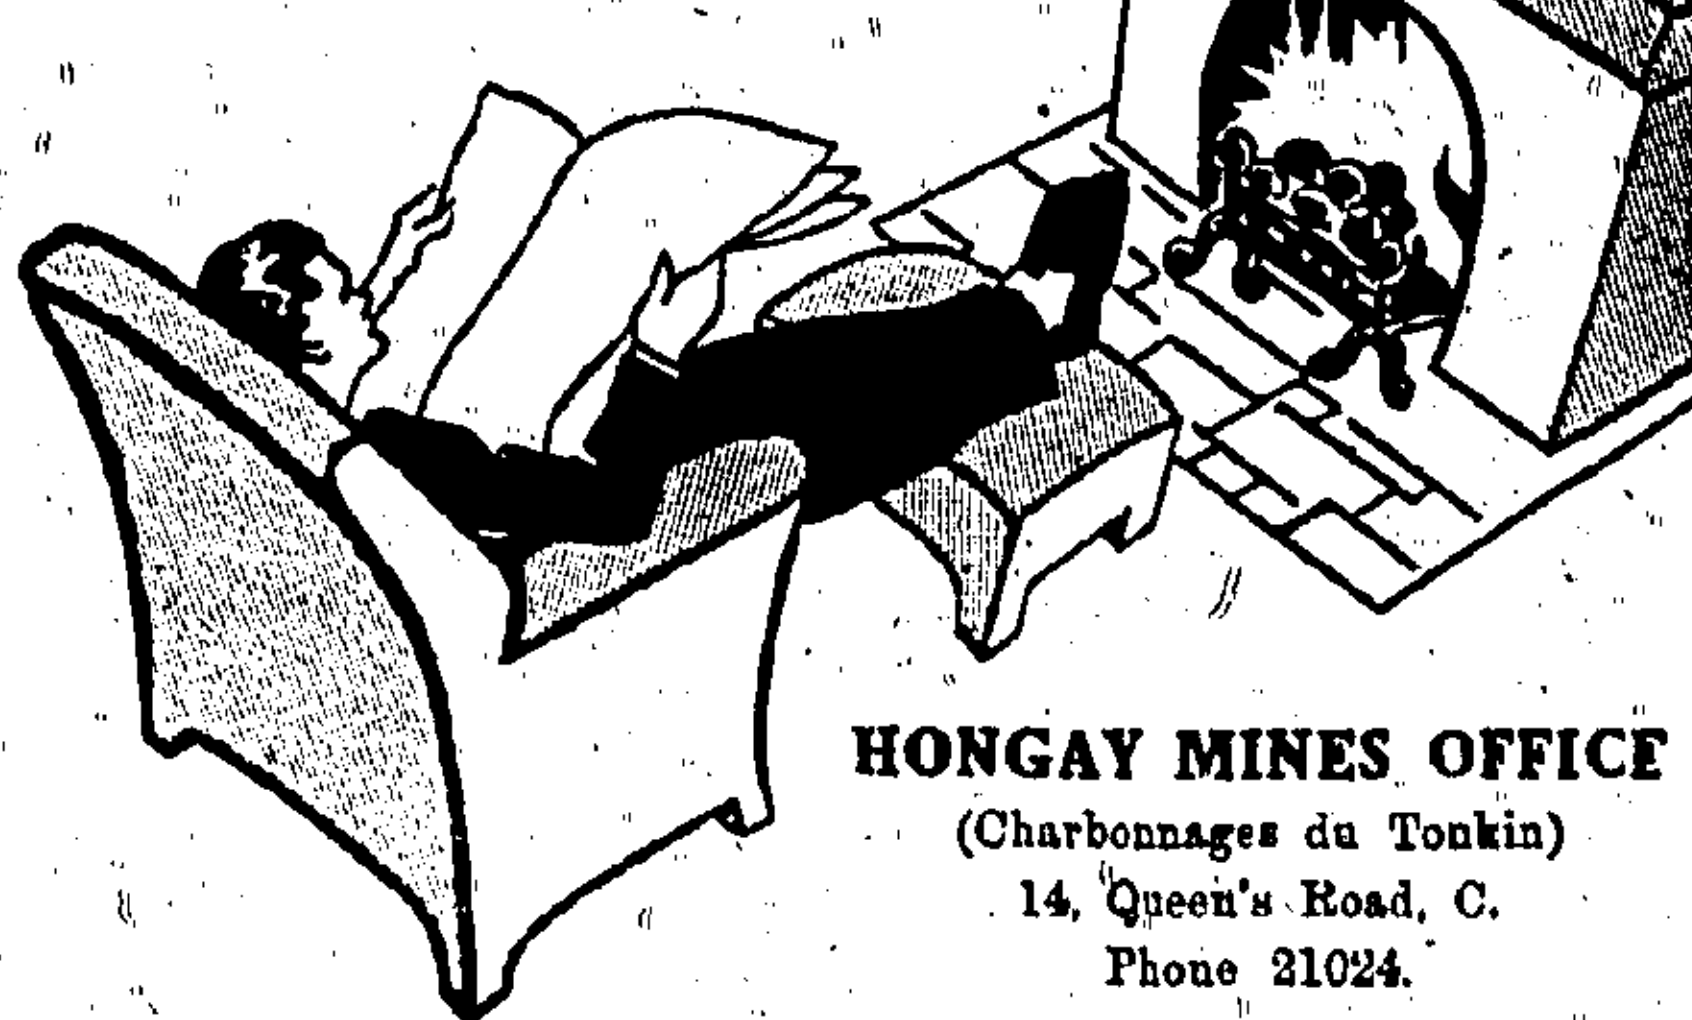

For over a century Sidmouth has borne a reputation as a health resort, and to its credit, in an age when natural amenities are often sacrificed in the name of progress, it remains unspoiled. To its beauties there has just been added the Connaught Gardens, a delightful retreat to the west of the town and overlooking the bay. This new pleasure ground has been shaped out of the old Sea View estate and has been named the Connaught Gardens in tribute to the Duke of Connaught who has spent the last three winters here and who has just taken up residence at Sidmouth for the coming winter.

The Duke of Connaught visited the gardens and formally named them and dedicated them to the use of the public for ever.

The Sea View property was acquired by the Sidmouth Urban District Council in 1931 and it was decided to convert it into gardens which would be in keeping with the natural beauties of the place. Dartington Hall, the centre for organized rural industries, undertaking

YUGOSLAVIA'S NOTE TO THE LEAGUE

Grave Charge Against Hungary

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily
Press" (Copyright.))

Geneva, Nov. 23.

The sole topic of conversation here is the situation created by Yugoslavia's precipitate action on Thursday and the various Hungarian declarations produced. Asked by Press correspondents what steps the Hungarian Government intended in taking, the Hungarian delegate, von Eckardt, declared that at the moment he could add nothing to what had already been said about Thursday's note. All delegations to Geneva point out that both Eckardt and Goemboes expressed the wish that the Yugoslavian charges should be dealt with as rapidly as possible by the League of Nations Council, hinting that possibly Hungary in a counter note would proceed to attack and demand that the Yugoslavian complaint be handled by the League without delay.

In League circles, it is emphasized that in the ordinary way the usual formalities of procedure do not admit any additions on the agenda of the Council session beyond those already fixed. But this would not prevent Hungary submitting a motion that another extraordinary Council session take place at the beginning of December.

Hungarian circles seem to assume that Hungary's next step will be determined by the nature of the new "materials," that is the alleged evidence of Hungary's guilt which the Yugoslav Government has given notice that she is intending to submit to the League Transocean Kuo Min.

CHARGE RESENTED

Budapest, Nov. 23.

A wave of bitter resentment and indignation swept over the whole country on Thursday when the public learned from the Press the nature and extent of the sweeping charges against Hungary couched in such flagrantly hostile language in the Yugoslavian note to the League of Nations. Animated conversations are going on everywhere in Budapest's brilliant cafes where the one theme is "intolerable defamation hurled at the Hungarian nation," the Press emphasizing that Yugoslavia's whole history was full of plots and assassinations.

The chief conjecture in political circles is the attitude the great Powers will take up, the hope being that Great Britain and France will exert their influence to conciliate the Little Entente, this expectation being based on the reason that conflict in South-East Europe would checkmate the French plans to stabilize Europe through rapprochement to Italy. To French influence is attributed the fact that Italy did not support the Yugoslavian note. An unconfirmed but persisting rumour is circulating in Budapest that Italy has already intimated to Yugoslavia that any spontaneous action against Hungary will inevitably call Italy upon the scene.

HUNGARY'S ACTION

Budapest, Nov. 23.

From authoritative quarters it is learned that the final decision about the steps the Hungarian Government would take as a result of the Yugoslavian note to the League of Nations, is not yet made. But at all events, the Government will act in accordance with the unanimous demand from Hungarian public opinion that the League of Nations be asked to order immediately an exhaustive and final enquiry that will bring all facts to light once for all.

It is expected that the Government will present the demand to the League of Nations on Saturday.

FRENCH WAR BUDGET

Chamber Discussion

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily
Press" (Copyright.))

Paris, Nov. 23.

When the Chamber resumed the debate on the War Budget on Friday, nobody could have complained that the speakers minced words. The rapporteur for the Military Commission, Archimbaud, seized the opportunity to develop his statements often repeated in print that it would be false service to the cause of peace to believe that Hitler was adhering painstakingly to the stipulations of the Treaty of Versailles. Soviet Russia was the first to warn France of the danger from this source. Russia and France, he stated, is an Entente which alone is powerful enough to stabilize and rescue the peace of Europe. Russia had a well trained army which would be at France's disposal in the event of a conflict with Germany.

Going on to say that this Entente is not welcomed by many Frenchmen who disapproved of government, Archimbaud instanced a parallel case of Richelieu's action in forming an alliance with Protestant Germany against Austria. Archimbaud concluded by saying it was not France's fault if the world, twenty years after the World War, were forced to return to the policy of political balance in power.

Turning to the practical aspects of the budget, Archimbaud declared that the extraordinary defence project worked out by the Government, costing 800 million francs was insufficient. If the Government wanted to discharge its duty thoroughly it needed 1,200 million francs. The Finance Minister, M. Germain, interposed that extraordinary expenditure of this scale could not be budgeted since it would upset the Government's whole financial plan, whereupon Archimbaud retorted that a Military Commission would never reject the estimates for securing France's safety. Before concluding, Archimbaud stated

SAAR VOTING

Foreign Officials To Assist

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily
Press" (Copyright.))

Saarbrücken, Nov. 23.

Preparations for the Plebiscite on January 13, 1935 are now assuming a concrete form. The Plebiscite Commission announced on Friday that it would need about 800 polling booths, each one of which must be presided over by someone neither French nor German. The Commission had accordingly made arrangements with 800 men to come from Switzerland, Holland and Luxemburg to officiate as required. Every one commands the German language perfectly and all are conversant with the technical nature of the work to be done. In principle, it has been decided that the counting of the vote will take place in Saarbrücken.

GERMAN PROTEST

Saarbrücken, Nov. 23.

The deputy regional leader of the German Front, Nietmann called on the Plebiscite commission to protest against the latest decree forbidding Saar officials any form of political activity, and also to explain exhaustively the standpoint of the German Front concerning several other important questions still in abeyance.

Transocean Kuo Min.

that in his opinion, Russia had the best aerial army in the world but France was the next best. If these two countries held together, there would be nothing to fear.

Following Archimbaud was Colonel Fabry, chairman of the Military Commission, who said that French armaments were no longer adequate to meet those of Germany. France had an air army and men but not material enough to make the air army best in the world. France had not the essential specialized troops for defending her fortified lines.

CRISIS LIKELY
OVER MISTAKEImperial Procession
Diverted in Error

Tokyo, Nov. 19.

A police lieutenant's mistake in directing an Imperial procession and his subsequent attempted suicide to-day loomed ominously as a possible major political issue on Japan's gloomy political horizon.

Critics of the Government are preparing a merciless campaign over what they describe as "unprecedented disgraceful affair" and attempting to hold Mr. F. Goto, Minister of Interior, responsible. Mr. Goto was closeted for an hour with the Premier, Admiral K. Okada, yesterday afternoon, apparently conferring on steps to be taken to prevent the issue from becoming a political weapon in the hands of the Cabinet's opponents.

With the opening of the extraordinary session of the Diet, convened to discuss farm and typhoon relief measures, on Tuesday, next week, leaders of the Minseitō and the Seiyūkai, major political parties, are already drawing their plans of attack on the government.

Three major subjects for attack, besides Friday's incident in Kiriu, will be the Government's alleged failure to provide sufficient relief to the victims of the typhoon that struck the Osaka region in the middle of September; the issuance of a political pamphlet by the Army Information Section and the difficulties experienced in connection with the proposed reorganization of Japanese administrative organs in Manchuria.

The Government's handling of the Japanese stand at the preliminary naval disarmament discussions in London probably will not be used by the parties as a subject for questions, political observers stated.

Premier's Regrets

Tokyo, Nov. 19.

Assuming responsibility for a police lieutenant's misdirection of the Imperial procession last Friday, Premier Katsuo Okada and Mr. Fumio Goto, Minister of the Interior, called on Emperor Hirohito this afternoon and expressed their profound regrets for the incident.

A MILLENNARY LUNCH

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 3.

Not all the compliments at the Firdausi millenary lunch in the House of Lords were reserved for the Persian poet.

The Persian Minister called attention to the "youth, beauty, and eloquence" of the Lord Privy Seal.

Sir Horace Rumbold praised not less enthusiastically Mr. Hussein Khan Ala's mastery of English oratory.

Mr. Anthony Eden, for all his academic distinctions, described himself as a mere amateur, who would like nothing better than to

"JUST SMITH"

Next Change At The Queen's

The treatment of "Just Smith," (the Tom Walls film showing from Wednesday at the Queen's Theatre), is best described as sick and proves that Tom Walls, who directed, is a director of significance in the film field.

As "Smith," a polished society crook, Tom Walls, cunning and urbane, has never appeared to better advantage. It allows him opportunity to exploit his personality and wealth of neatly interpolated gesture.

"Just Smith" is adapted from the Frederick Lonsdale comedy "Never Come Back," a very successful stage play and the story concerns one "Smith" and his colleague, an American (a part brilliantly played by Hartley Power), who cultivate society in order to pilfer their bonds.

All goes well with the crooked schemes of the pair until a charming young American girl, whose snobbish mother is determined to marry her to a duke falls in love with "Smith" and he finds it an extremely difficult task to kill her infatuation and, incidentally his own.

The picture is full of wit and laughter and sparkling dialogue in the best Lonsdale manner.

Clever performances are given by Hartley Power, Eva Moore, Anne Grey, Carol Goodner, Veronica Rose and Peter Gawthorne.

THE BRONZE AGE
IN SCOTLANDTrade Created By
Copper Discovery

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 8.

Professor T. H. Bryce delivered the second lecture of a series arranged by the Glasgow Archaeological Society on Scottish Archaeology in the New Commercial College, his subject being "The Bronze Age in Scotland."

In full Neolithic times, said Professor Bryce, the inhabitants of Scotland were farmers in some rude fashion, owners of domestic animals, and skilful potters. They practised an elaborate cult of the dead, the most striking feature of which was the building of great chambered tombs. Their architecture reached its zenith in the Orkneys and then died out. This old culture faded in face of a new culture, the beginnings of which coincided with the coming of a new people from Central Europe. The great novelty was the art of metallurgy. Scotland possessed some of the raw materials for this new culture, but they had not been so far exploited. Gold and copper were available, but tin was absent. Clearly the discovery that the red substance now called copper could be fused by heat and when fused could be poured into a mould the shape of which it retained when cold and hard again was not made here in the North.

Technique of the Smith.

The knowledge came from without, and relatively late—some 2,000 years B.C. This knowledge must have come from the intercourse of peoples, and there followed the establishment of widespread trade relations between those who desired and those who possessed the supplies of metals.

There was little evidence of a copper age such as existed in the South of Scotland, but that the technique of the smith did not come to the North fully developed was indicated by the fact that the earlier bronze axes were very simple in form. Stone moulds for casting these proved that the simpler implements were manufactured locally, while the discovery in the Shetlands of quantities of fragments of clay moulds for making bronze swords and axes showed that even these highly developed weapons were also a local product.

In the Bronze Age the character and development of the culture could be reconstructed from the relics found in graves and from the hoards of implements which had been discovered.

at again at the feet of that great Orientalist, Sir Denison Ross. And Sir Denison, before declaiming some lines of Matthew Arnold's poem from Firdausi, spoke fair things of that now decried Victorian.

"TROUBLE"

The King's Next
Attraction

Sydney Howard is visiting King's Theatre on Wednesday in a screamingly funny film of adventures aboard a pleasure boat and aptly titled "Trouble."

Sydney Howard is in his best imitable form, and a host well-known comedy players contributes capital support. The simple narrative roams as far afield as Tangiers, and the variety of colourful and authentic backgrounds accentuates the artless but popular fooling.

Horace Hollebone, a dumb steward on a pleasure boat, and his equally dumb mate, Nobby, suspect Captain Vansittart and his sister of the theft of a lady's valuable pendant. When the boat docks at Tangiers, they see Vansittart hand something to a native, and follow the recipient to the native quarter. By luck they secure the jewel, but their trouble and the simple fun starts when they try to return to the ship and earn the reward for the return of the gem.

Sydney Howard succeeds in exploiting his quaint, jocular humour as Hollebone, and finds an excellent foil in George Turner as Nobby. Supporting characters are in the safe and capable hands of George Curzon, Dorothy Robinson, Wally Patch, Abraham Sofaer and Muriel Aked.

Most of the action takes place on a pleasure cruise boat bound for the Orient, and the interesting and refreshing background makes a good setting for the bright fooling and amusing gags. The chase in Tangiers, resulting in the recovery of the elusive jewel, represents good slapstick, and here again, colourful and authentic background enhances the qualities of the fun.

The amusing story, popular star, excellent presentation, refreshing background, clean humour and capital team work will assure patrons the finest film entertainment offered during the week commencing Wednesday.

LIVELY COMEDY

Coming To The Alhambra

James Cagney and Bette Davis head an exceptionally talented cast in the Warner Bros. picture, "Jimmy The Gent," which is coming to the Alhambra Theatre on Friday.

This is the first time in which the fiery, red-headed Jimmy and the tall, willowy and blonde Bette have played opposite each other as screen lovers.

It is notable that Jimmy, while he is plenty rough with other members of the cast, never once lays his hands on Bette. It is she who does the socking in the picture, Jimmy being on the receiving end of two smart blows to the jaw, planted just as hard as Bette's tiny fist can plant them.

Cagney's more recent pictures include "Lady Killer," "Footlight Parade," and "The Mayor of Hell." Bette at the same time was appearing in "Fashions of 1934" and "Ex-Lady."

Alice White, who appeared with Cagney in "Picture Snatcher" in which she is the recipient of a knock out punch, is another member of the cast of "Jimmy The Gent," but this time she escapes any mauling. Together with Allen Jenkins, her sweetheart, she supplies no end of "mushy" comedy.

Others in important roles include such well known players as Arthur Hohl, Alan Dinehart, Phillip Reed, Hobart Cavanaugh, Mayo Methot, Ralfe Harolde, Philip Faversham and Nora Lane.

The picture is a lively comedy romance which reveals a strange racket in which phoney heirs are dug up to collect large estates left unclaimed.

Michael Curtiz directed the picture from the screen play by Bertram Milhauser.

The Truth Teller

A governess asked her ward what "S-e-e" spelt. The child hesitated. "What do I do when I look at you?" said the governess. "Tingit" was the reply.

"JUNGLE TRAP"

To-day's Attraction
At The King's

As intense as the heat of the tropics it represents, as thrilling as the Malay jungle in which it is set, comes Paramount's "Jungle Trap" at the King's Theatre to-day.

It features Charles Laughton, Carole Lombard, Charles Bickford and Kent Taylor. All members of the cast competently portray the characterizations assigned them. Laughton, especially, stands out in a performance that will stand up with all the distinctive screen characterizations.

Charles Laughton, genius of evil, rules the upper Malay jungle with a rod of iron. "Carole Prin," that is my name. Him king of this 'er river, him'm.

Fearing deportation because of a malicious scandal, Carole Lombard accompanies him to his "hell-hole" far up the river. Here she finds a haven of refuge for fugitives from life and law. Treacherous natives and "woman-starved" white men are her associates.

Kent Taylor, deserter from the British army, gripped by an unconquerable fear, stands out above all the other men of Prin's crew.

A strange romance develops. They decide to go down the river to freedom. Prin sends them away planning to have them killed by natives as he has many another person who has disobeyed him.

But he doesn't reckon with Bickford, escaped chain-gang convict, and as tough and cruel as the king himself, who nevertheless senses the fine love between Carole and Taylor, and helps them to escape. Then he returns to the "house-boat" home of Prin, there to die with him in a gripping, dramatic scene of native uprising.

Much comedy is derived from scenes between Laughton and Bickford when the two start insulting each other in good old American slang.

"Hide-Out," the new M.G.M. comedy-romance which is now showing at the Queen's Theatre, is a show that is as clean as a whistle, and as such holds great appeal for every member of the family. Its action is well sustained throughout with comedy stressed, both in direction and action.

Blessed with a swell story and W.S. Van Dyke's expert direction, the players really "go to town" in their respective roles. As the brash, lady-killer but withal human and likeable big-city racketeer, Robert Montgomery has a role which fits him like a $100 tailored suit. It's Montgomery as the fans like him which is "nuff said!"

Maureen O'Sullivan, beautifully photographed, is thoroughly charming as the sweet unworried country lass, and makes a splendid foil for the jaunty, wise-cracking Montgomery.

The supporting cast boasts a number of exceptionally effective character portrayals. The performances of Edward Arnold, Elizabeth Patterson, young Mickey Rooney, Henry Armetta and Herman Bing are particularly notable.

MADAME DU BARRY

At The Alhambra

Dolores Del Rio has given a new slant to the old phrase "From rags to royal raiment."

The exotic star wears royal gowns for the first time in her Warner Bros. production of "Madame Du Barry," now playing at the Alhambra Theatre.

Dolores, for the most part, has won screen fame in peasant and native girl roles that required her to wear either grass skirts or rags and tatters.

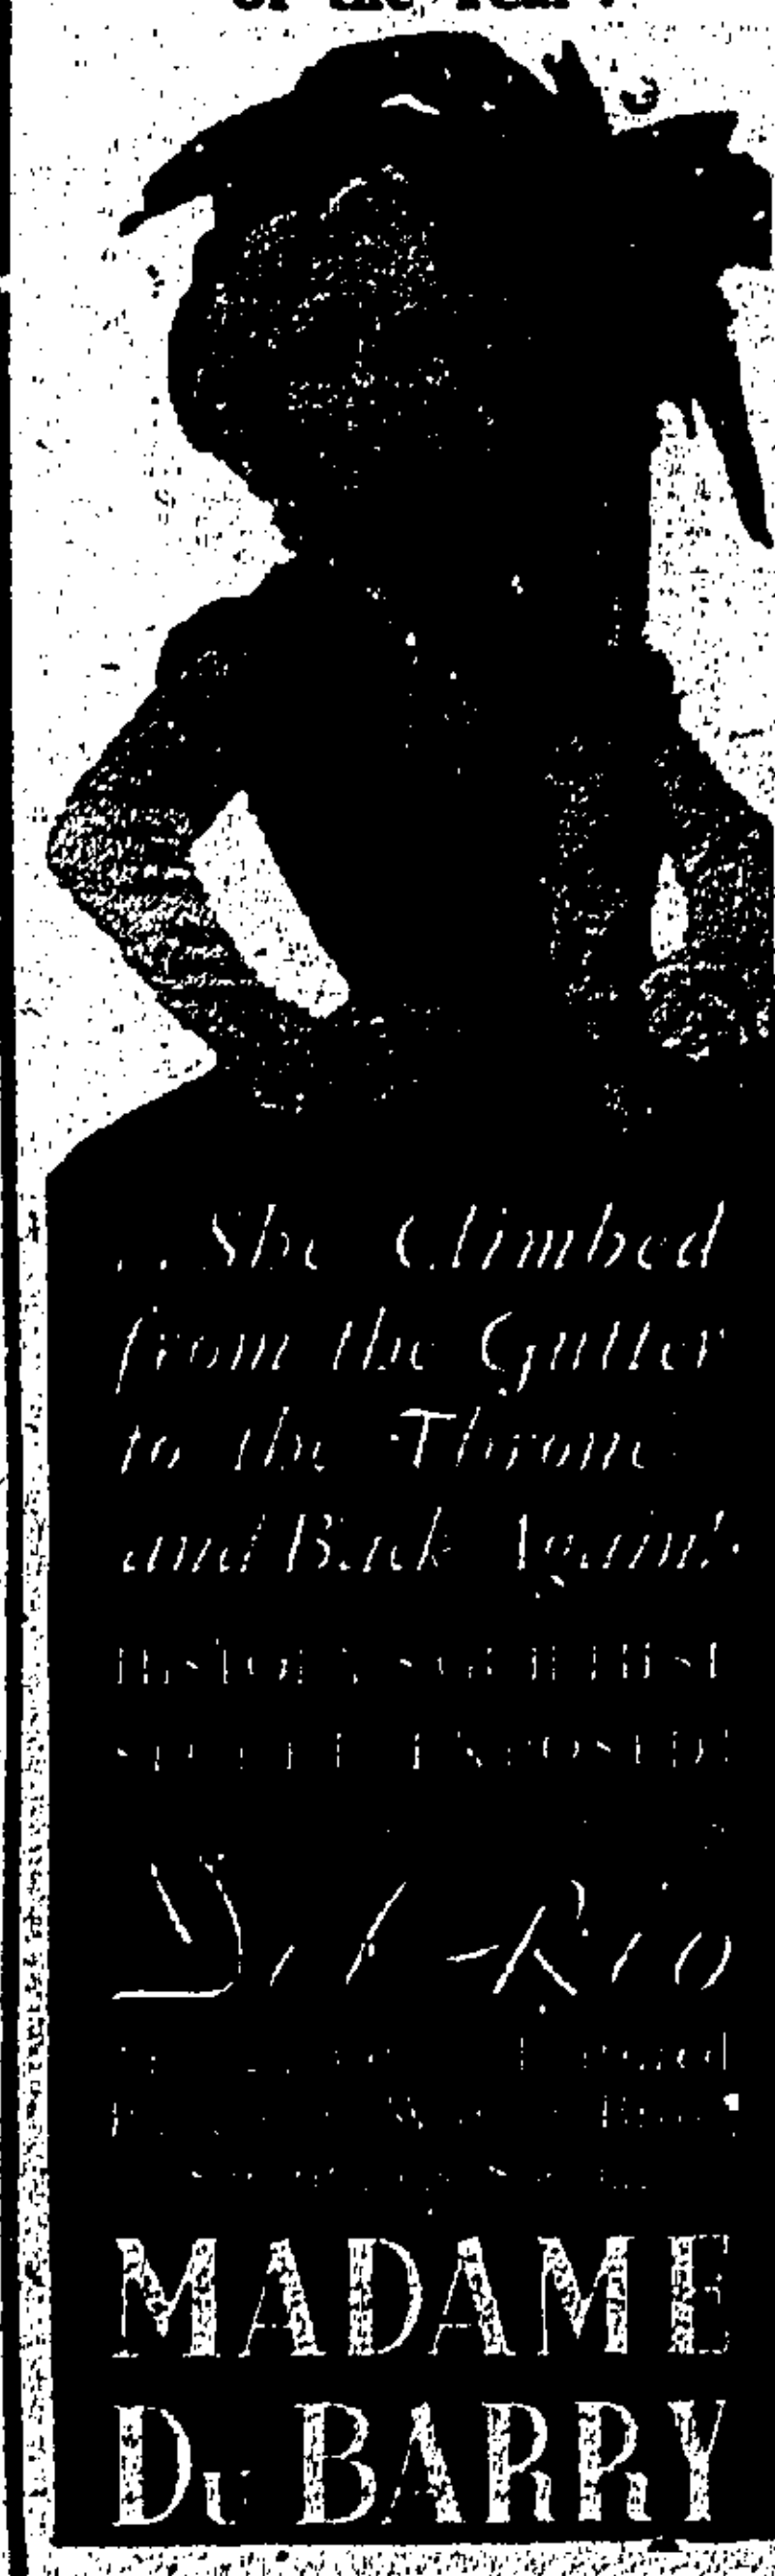

The star has always felt herself fitted to play modern roles, and costume pictures such as "Madame Du Barry."

"Wonder Bar," recently released, proved her ability to portray up-to-date girls, and now she appears as the famous favourite of King Louis XV, whose extravaganzas were the scandal of the eighteenth century.

With Orry-Kelly, chief designer for Warners, Miss Del Rio prepared the gowns she wears in the role of Du Barry. Yards and yards of costly fabrics are used to clothe the star as befits the favourite of a French king. Brocades from France, metal cloths from the Orient, and lace of the expensive Brussels variety were utilized in the making of thirty-five gowns she wears in the picture.

The picture based on the story and screen play by Edward Chodorov, deals with the intimate life of Du Barry and King Louis XV. Miss Del Rio heads an all-star cast which includes Reginald Owen, Victor Jory, Osgood Perkins, Verree Teasdale, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Dorothy Tree and hundreds of others.

CULTURED PEARL EXHIBITION

At Komor & Komor's
Art Rooms

Mr. Kodaka's well known Pearl Exhibition at the Art Rooms of Messrs. Komor & Komor calls to mind an interesting article in the well known Magazine "Kosmos," (a paper for physical research, published in 1922), on natural and artificial pearls in which a description of the growth of pearls was given.

The Pearl originates through sickness of certain molluscs, of which the pearl mollusc, Meleagrina Margaritifera, which lives in the sea of the East, is the most valued. In the 18th century, philosophers of old found that in case of a scratch on the shell, or if any foreign matter entered the shell, it is immediately covered with a chalky substance and then with cell matter, which really forms the Pearl.

About 30 years ago Japan started to cultivate pearls by injecting foreign matter into the oyster shells and when the first shipment came to Paris, scientists were puzzled whether to classify them as genuine or artificial, for it was impossible to tell which was which, unless the pearl was cut in two, and half pearls were not of much use. After the war the first shipment of round, cultured pearls arrived in London at Hatton Garden, the biggest jewellery market in the world and they were at a loss to distinguish the cultured pearl from the natural, as the cultured pearl had the same weight, the same lustre and the same substance as the deep water pearl. The Pearl Market fell in price, the cultured pearl cost only the 10th part of the Indian pearl and, (people asked) why pay 10 times the price for an article which nobody can distinguish from the other. It takes about eight years of patience and great care to develop a Cultured Pearl.

In 1926 "In Nature" brought out an interesting article on pearls and claimed that, at last, an instrument had been found to determine the difference between the Cultured Pearl and the genuine pearl but even with this instrument the Pearl has to be drilled to be of any use. In this hole a small glass pipe is inserted and light reflects through it, on a specially constructed mirror. It shows that the light travels right through and illuminate only part of the layers, while in the natural gem all layers are illuminated. It still remains to be seen whether by a certain pressure even this light effect cannot be eliminated. If that can be done there will be no way to distinguish the natural from the cultured pearl and the value of both will be the same. It is worth your time to visit Komor's Pearl Exhibition and to see the oyster specimens which Mr. Kodaka exhibits, besides this there are beautifully matched necklaces with jewellery clasps, a variety of mounted jewellery in platinum, gold and silver in the latest London and Paris mountings. The prices, which are remarkably low, make this Exhibition specially attractive.

Messrs. Komor & Komor will be open till 6 p.m. and will welcome all visitors with their usual courtesy.

ST. ANDREW'S TROOP

Holds "At Home"

At an "At Home" held in the grounds of St. Andrew's Church on Saturday a high tribute was paid to the leaders of St. Andrew's Church Boy Scouts by the Vicar, the Rev. J. K. Higgs, M.A. In the course of his speech the Vicar said that the troops have attained great efficiency and the credit was due to Scoutmasters R. Dormer, R. Wong, and F. V. Wong.

As Messrs. Dormer and R. Wong are soon leaving the Colony he appealed to the boys to continue and maintain the same standard under the guidance of F. V. Wong. Mr. Dormer, in reply, thanked the Vicar for the compliments paid to the troop, and added that the success of the troop was a result of the help which they had received from the boys themselves. Both Mr. Wong and he were only too happy to give what little assistance they could.

Among the many parents and friends present were Mrs. J. R. Higgs, wife of the Vicar, Mr. and Mrs. Engelbrecht, Mrs. Gunson, Mrs. Millington, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Edmondson, Mrs. Dillon, Mrs.

U. S. BRITISH AMITY

Mr. Cordell Hull
Pleased

Washington, Nov. 23.
The Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, declared to-day that he had read the speech of the British Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, delivered in the House of Commons yesterday, with particular interest. It was a lucid exposition of the difficulties of the naval talks, said Mr. Hull.

One of the bright spots of the negotiations had been the close and friendly relations between the delegations of the three participating Powers.

Sir John Simon's references to the armaments industry were considered friendly and courageous said Mr. Hull.

"When Mr. MacDonald states that the British Government attaches the highest value to close friendship and co-operation with the United States, I can assure him that this Government heartily reciprocates," said Mr. Hull, commenting on the friendly spirit shown by the British Prime Minister.

STUDENTS INTERRUPT AN ADDRESS

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, November 25, 4.30 a.m.)
Bucharest, Nov. 24.

The well-known Bucharest financier and novelist, Leopold Stern, intended speaking on Friday on "sex appeal," but the students had organised a great protest and interrupted the lecture by "catcalls" and cries of "shame" while they also threw rotten eggs. After breaking up the meeting, the students marched through the principal streets singing national airs, and smashing all the windows of the fashionable Cafe Royal. They next began a demonstration outside the editorial offices of the sensationalist paper "Credinta," when the police arrived and dispersed them with truncheons.

ALLEGED PURCHASE OF ZEPPELINS

Negotiations Not Yet
Concluded

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Berlin, Nov. 24.

The reports appearing in Japanese newspapers about the alleged purchase of Zeppelins being prompted by the German industrial firm concerned, states that negotiations are not yet concluded but that all assumptions now being made, particularly those of a political nature, are entirely erroneous. The transaction proposed is based on the 'principle of compensation,' which in other words is barter, such as many German firms has carried out on a large scale and will continue to carry out in various countries.

TRAINING GALLOPS

Preparing For The Autumn Champions

(BY "MORNING DEW")

A good number of ponies were put through the pace on Saturday and although there is a race meeting this week-end, the work of preparation for the Autumn Champions is well in hand. A notable gallop on Saturday was by Sadko who returned 2.39 for a mile and a quarter on the sand track. Although the finish was not too impressive, this candidate has a distinct chance in the forthcoming classic.

Liberty Bay and Trentbridge who are due to meet over one and a half miles this week were both at work, each look very fit.

King's Justice, Ribble, King's Warden, Iron Grey, Australian Boy and Alacrity were among those which moved well.

NEW TRADE PACTS IN RUMANIA

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, November 24, 7.50 p.m.)
Bucharest, Nov. 24.

The Government's Economic Committee have resolved to renounce all commercial treaties and to inaugurate new trade pact negotiations, the basis for which is to be the definition that imports are permitted only in proportion of sixty per cent of the previous exports.

SCARCITY OF MILK IN RUSSIA

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Moscow, Nov. 24.
The scarcity of milk in many parts of Ukraine has become so great that the Soviet authorities have decided to issue rationing cards for milk and dairy produce from November 25. Hospital infants will have first claim, and what is left over will be sold in public wards in limited quantities against ration cards.

"FRESH FIELDS"A.D.C.'s. Forthcoming Treat

In reviewing the social events offered by the winter season, it is perhaps not too much to say that none creates more interest with local residents than the productions of the Amateur Dramatic Club.

There was a time when their performances were the sole form of dramatic entertainment available to the public, and it is gratifying to know that, notwithstanding the advent of cinemas, cabarets, etc., our local theatres can lay just claim to a full measure of support.

Successive committees of management have seldom failed to gauge the public taste and in the choice of Ivor Novello's light comedy "Fresh Fields" for this season's initial production, a happy selection has been made. This play was perhaps the most outstanding of its kind of last year's London successes and should prove outstandingly admirably suited to the Club's resources and well calculated to please the tired business man in these depressing times.

Light comedy or farce is always acceptable but there are always those that have a leaning towards art for art's sake and perhaps the A.D.C. will do something to cater for the more serious minded playgoer later in the season.

The high standard of production and acting attained by the Amateur Dramatic Club has long been generally known and it has to be admitted that some half dozen or so of the more tried players have been responsible for the retention of this great reputation; but the opinion has been expressed that too little encouragement has been given to new talent. Bearing this in mind, the present committee recently extended an invitation to everyone interested in dramatic art to attend a Reception and Reading of Plays. As a result of this, several promising new players presented themselves and six, out of a cast of nine, will make their Hong Kong debut in "Fresh Fields" at the China Fleet Club Theatre on Wednesday 5th December, when the cast will include—

Helen Stuart-Smith,
Eric Brooks,
Beryl Gough,
Fay Grossman,
Andrew Mackinlay,
Eileen Bellamy,
Sheila Jeffries,
Gulford Dudley, and Cynthia Fasken.

Still another instance of the Club's receptiveness for suggestions is evidenced by the consideration the Committee has given to the question of prices of admission. Attendances at last season's productions were somewhat disappointing but this was perhaps partly attributable to public apathy towards the new theatre, which was then thought to be rather off the beaten track. An opinion was also expressed that prices were too high, and in order to test this latter idea, it has been decided to reduce prices on Wednesday and Thursday: 5th and 6th December. On these two nights the prices will be $3 & $2.50, respectively to the Dress Circle and Stalls; the old prices of $4 and $3 will be charged on Friday and Saturday, 7th and 8th December, and the result of this innovation will be noted with interest.

Rehearsals are proceeding well and the work is well up to time. Mr. W. A. Cornell has produced a most attractive set for the occasion and local modistes are very busy with the large number of dresses required by the play.

Booking at Anderson's Music Co. opens to-day.

CHINESE Y.M.C.A. ACTIVITIESConcert At Bridges Street

Effective feminine impersonations featured a well-attended concert given by the various groups of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. at Bridges Street on Saturday.

The concert, the last of the Autumn season's activities, included Chinese boxing, a gymnastic display, songs and plays. Mr. Chung Tse-keung, physical director, presided.

The climax of the evening came when a two-act play, entitled "Parting," written and directed by Mr. Chung Tse-keung, was staged.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED AT KOWLOON BRANCH

Stressing the needs and difficulties in securing cultured actors and actresses for better Chinese pictures as the demand for game is still far greater than its supply, Mr. J. S. Shak, President of The Hong Kong Chinese Artistic Film Company, gave as an incentive the formation of the above company which is privately run.

At a function, held on Saturday evening at the Hall of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. at Waterloo Road, no fewer than 56 amateur actors and actresses received their diplomas from Mrs. Smith, wife of Mr. J. Smith of the Kowloon Canton Railway.

After the presentation an interesting programme of plays, sketches and songs was presented to a large and appreciative audience.

SHANGHAI'S NEW BERTHFor Large Liners

For the first time since she was launched, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan berthed on the Shanghai side of the river on her last call, developing a new chapter in wharf facilities for large liners in the port of Shanghai.

The Empress of Japan, 26,000 tons, formerly berthed on the Pootung side of the river, but as a result of dredging and other improvements carried out by the Shanghai and Hongkong Wharf Company the Canadian Pacific liners are now able to come alongside the company's wharf on the Shanghai side. With the aid of a single tug, the Empress of Japan swung at a point down river and was berthed stern first at 10.30 p.m., creating tremendous interest among the people gathered on the wharf to meet their friends. Yesterday she presented a picturesque sight, her white hull and three yellow funnels towering unfamilarly in a part of the harbour hitherto used only by much smaller vessels.

FAMOUS TREATYWhole State Sold For Knives!

A copy of the Treaty by which John Batman bought from the Australian Aborigines 600,000 acres of what is now Victoria for a parcel of blankets and knives is at present on view in the Public Records Office in London. Though not the original, it is the chief document in an exhibition arranged in connection with the Melbourne centenary. It is accompanied by a map showing the site for a township very near the present site of Melbourne. Where the original is to be found is obscure (though a correspondent informed "The Times" during the week that it "is, or was, in the British Museum").

This, the copy sent to the Colonial Office, is written in a scholarly hand and begins in due form, "Be it known to all persons that we, Jagajaga Jagajaga Jagajaga, being the principal chieftains, and also Bungaree Yanyan (), there are several others, being the chiefs of a certain native tribe being possessed of the tract of land hereinafter mentioned, and in consideration of 20 pairs of Blankets, 30 tomahawks, 100 knives, 50 pairs of scissors, 200 handkerchiefs, 100 pounds of flour, six shirts, and similar payments to be made in subsequent years, sell the tract hereinafter mentioned. The chieftains made their mark at the bottom of the paper. Three of them had the same name, but it is not quite clear whether they made the same mark. The copyist has rendered it in each case as three squiggles slightly varied and concluding with a cipher; four marks for each chief. Were they recognised marks, or did the copyist stylize the path of an aimlessly wandering pen?

Not Recognized.

John Batman's treaty was sent to the Colonial Office in 1835. The treaty was not recognized by the New South Wales Government, and the real beginnings of Melbourne did not come till 1837. But 1834 is still an appropriate centenary year, for it is the anniversary of the forming of the Port Phillip Association which started in Tasmania and ended in the foundation of a capital city.

Alongside John Batman's documents we are shown a map of one of the first journeys into Victoria. The explorers were a certain W. H. Hovell and Hamilton Hume, who set off in 1824 from Lake George, New South Wales. Their map is like a wedge thrust into unknown country. They began by crossing mountains and then met a river which, says the map, is a hundred yards wide. So they crossed over and called it after Hume. They found at first rich alluvial plains and promising land. Then moun-

His junk was damaged on the port side to the extent of $20. Fortunately no person was injured nor was any damage done to junk No. 5303Q.

ROYAL ENGINE DRIVERS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Nov. 3.

King Boris of Bulgaria, who drove a blazing locomotive for two miles, is not alone among Royalty in his knowledge of engine-driving.

His father, King Ferdinand, used to be reputed the most expert of Royal engine-drivers, with King Alfonso of Spain a good second. The late King Albert of the Belgians had also considerable knowledge and experience in that line.

Most of the members of our Royal family have tasted the joys of the foot-plate more than once, and the peerage has three very proficient drivers—the Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Sutherland, and the Marquis of Bute.

trains cross their path. They are a long way from Lake George now and tired. They call it Disappointment Range. Mountains in front, impenetrable jungle on the flank, but they get through somehow and reach "Port Phillip" called by the native Jilong. They ended their journey at the sea, and had they but known it, by the site of what was to be the capital of the new continent.

CHAMBERLAIN'S VIEWSBritain's Stable Government

London, Nov. 23.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech at Birmingham, said that after three years with a three-party Government in power, he did not think the country yet desired the combination to come to an end.

Although in the nature of things it could only be transitory, the world condition was such that it could not afford to lose such a stable government.

They had entered upon a session of outstanding importance in the history of the British Empire, notably in reference to the question of the future of the Indian Empire. Everyone was agreed that there must be an advance towards self-government in India, but not such a complete system of self-government as to deprive her of guidance and direction from this country, which had brought her out of chaos to her present condition of peace and security. The differences which appeared in the Conservative Party on the subject were narrowed down to two things—how far they should go and how fast they should go. He thought after consideration the great majority of the Conservative Party would be of one mind.

Mr. Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, in a speech at Glasgow, referring to the Indian report, emphasised that his whole scheme of an All-India Federation, comprising autonomous provinces and Indian States was based on the principle of responsibility with safeguards. That did not mean that the safeguards were to be normally and continuously in operation. They were there for use in emergency, and he believed they would be fully effective in case of need, but he did not believe that the existence of proper safeguards should or would prevent the steady development of self-government by responsibly-minded Indians.—

ANGLO-JAPAN NAVAL TALKAmerican Delegates Informed

London, Nov. 23.

The Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary, two of the British delegates in the conversations now proceeding in London, met the American delegates, Mr. Norman Davis and Mr. Ray Atherton, this morning, when the Americans were informed of what had passed in the recent talks with the Japanese delegates.

This was followed by a review of the position up to date, and after discussion, both delegations decided that it was worth while continuing the conversations.

It will be recalled that at an early stage in the conversations the Japanese naval proposals were presented and in sum they proved totally unacceptable to both the British and Americans. As no indication of a modification of these proposals was forthcoming from the Japanese side, certain suggestions were put forward by the British during a seriatim examination of the proposals. The Japanese after consultation with Tokyo, rejected these suggestions, but showed a desire to continue the talks, which, however have so far resulted in no advance. Matters were at this stage when to-day's Anglo-American meeting took place.

No formal meetings will be held during the weekend, but social engagements will bring some of the delegates including Sir John Simon and Mr. Davis, into contact. Further Anglo-Japanese conversations will take place next week, probably on Wednesday.—

TRADE OUTLOOK IN CANTON

Silver Smuggling Problem

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Nov. 25. Because the smuggling of silver for export is still going on, both the preventive service and the Chinese Maritime Customs are doubling their efforts to prevent the exodus of the white metal from Canton. Several shipments of silver were brought here to-day from Kowloon, because they were consigned there with a view to illicit export.

Shippers of silver coins to Kowloon have to give a bond that the metal will not be exported from there. The restriction on the export of silver does not apply to shipments to the interior of the province. However, some smugglers are secretly sending away silver coins via the Canton-Kowloon Railway on the excuse they are merely going to Walchow or Tongkwoon. The preventive service at Shum Chun is instructed to keep a watch on these smugglers whose destination is Hong Kong.

LANGUAGE AND BUSINESS

A British authority resident in China has, in a letter he sent to Manchester, given a very interesting indication of a significant change in the attitude of British merchants in China. He had been asked as to the value attached by business men in China to a knowledge of the language of the country. In the past it has been the custom for representatives of British firms to rely entirely on interpreters.

The letter stated that the writer had been in consultation with the heads of some of the principal firms who have had their men specially trained in the Chinese language and they are unanimous in stating that experience has fully justified their belief in the desirability of their men acquiring a working knowledge of the language.

The principal point on which stress is laid is that the average man can, after a few years, by study out of office hours, learn enough to get the gist of conversations, and so follow and check, to a certain degree, the accuracy of their interpreter, even if they are not able to wholly dispense with their services—a facility which is not only of great importance in itself, but also as giving just those few extra seconds for thinking out a reply which are often so valuable.

It was also agreed that even a man with no linguistic ability, and who may never attain proficiency, can gain, by an honest attempt to learn the language, an insight into Chinese methods and ways of thought, which he could never acquire by any other means. Moreover, knowledge of native customs and etiquette learnt in the course of study, enables a man to practise small courtesies which are so essential in intercourse with Chinese, and so smooth the path of commerce.

We feel that changing conditions of trade in China are making it more desirable than ever that young men coming out here to engage in business should set about learning the language as soon as possible.

The difference between life in the interior and life in cities should not weaken the case for the study of Chinese. A knowledge of either the local dialect or of "Mandarin" would be a valuable asset in spite of the greater proportion of Chinese who know the English language.

HARNESSING OF WATER POWER

Canton, Nov. 24.

In view of the universal use of water in foreign countries for the working of electric supply and power plants, it is reported that Mr. Ho Kai Lai of the Reconstruction Department, in pursuance of the Three-Year-Plan for the utilizing of water power for industrial purposes, has decided to establish electric supply and power stations in every district of the province, where water facilities are found to be suitable.

Accordingly, a party for the survey and study of all places has been organized and will be despatched to the different districts, under the leadership of Mr. Leung Tai Wai.

Clock and Watch Imports. According to an estimate of the clock and watch dealers, the import of time-pieces to Canton is approximately $200,000 a year. Most of the watches are imported from Switzerland and Sweden, while the clocks are imported from Germany and Japan.

Being bulky objects, the import of clocks has to pass through the customs, but no declaration is made with respect to watches, which are usually smuggled into Canton. They can be conveniently put in pockets. No official record of their entry is available.

CHINA'S CAMPAIGN IN THE OPIUM EVIL

Geneva Delegates Hope For Success

Geneva, Nov. 24.

The delegates of several Powers congratulated Mr. Victor C. Hoo, Chinese Minister to Switzerland, at the meeting of the League of Nations Committee on the Opium Problem upon the new rigorous measures the Chinese Government had promulgated and expressed the hope that these will be strictly applied.

The Japanese delegate, among others, spoke appreciatively of China's bold step and said that its application in such a vast country will necessitate the utmost energy and patience.

The Siamese delegate said that the Chinese action will have an immediate repercussion in Siam if China succeeded in abolishing opium culture and smoking in six years. It will be of great interest to Siam where most of the traffic was of Chinese origin.

Mr. Hoo replying to the points raised by the various delegates described the manner in which statistical and other information regarding the operation of the plan will be brought before the Committee. The Chinese system was "sul generis," adapted to special Chinese conditions, and could not be compared to a monopoly or other plans elsewhere.

It was not thought that monopoly as a form of control would yield the happiest results. Progressive abolition could be pursued with little energy, but the Chinese Government was determined not to let the wolf of monopoly enter the back door while driving the tiger of the traffic evil from the front door.

In reply to the Siamese delegate, Mr. Hoo said that even if not a single grain of smuggled goods came to Siam from China, the Siamese monopoly would still exist—a condition for which China was not responsible.

After reporting to President Lin Sen, he was busy engaged in a conference with General Chiang Kai Shek and other Government leaders.

It is learned from reliable sources that definite measures in the anti-Red drive in Szechuan had been reached and that the reorganization of the Provincial Government is under consideration. Financial matters are still being discussed with Dr. H. H. Kung.

General Liu is probably planning to return to Szechuan this week. As regards his visit to Shanghai, he said that he had no intention regarding the reported financial adjustment loan. He stated that he had not suggested it, but merely rendered an account of the present situation, and declared that as regards financial remedy and other matters he was abiding by the Central Government's decision.

NAVAL TALK BELIEF

Goal In Sight

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.

The belief that the goal is in sight, despite the difficulties in the road of the naval negotiations, was expressed by the Japanese Ambassador to Washington, Mr. Hiroshi Saito, in an address to the Academy of Political and Social Science here yesterday.

He said that Japan would terminate the Washington Treaty, regardless of developments of the preliminary discussions in London, but he reminded his listeners that she was in no way claiming a greater navy.

On the contrary, he said, she will propose a reduction, provided she can obtain parity by corresponding British and American reductions.

"If we all make drastic reductions, we will approach the day when we can reduce our respective navies to police standard," he asserted.

charming young lady in navy blue and in the same party was Miss Ann Dodwell, also in navy blue dress with a cold coat of sequins. It is not often that we see Miss Webster at these dances but on Saturday night she was there looking very smart in brown satin, with shoes to match.

A BIRTHDAY CAKE

Miss Miriam Hopkins was beautifully groomed in a green evening dress and on the table was a birthday cake. I wonder to whom congratulations are due? In the same party were the Misses O'Hagan and Deacon, while Dr. Croot and Mr. Harry Hampton were also there.

Another who favoured red was Miss Stevenson, and Mrs. Hersee was in a flowered chiffon dress. Miss Bilderbeck, a comparatively newcomer, was in a blue checked dress and with her were the two Boyd sisters. By the way, we shall be losing the sisters soon as they are leaving on Thursday. The Misses Elsie Lamert and Peggy Humphreys were in a party together, the former in white with touches of red and the latter in pale blue. Mr. and Mrs. Walker of the Railway were there and I thought that the pale pink dress that Mrs. Walker chose suited her very well.

Mr. Brandell went with a lady friend who was in a dress of green velvet while Miss Naomi Joseph, in white, with touches of red, was dancing with Mr. Maurice Well. Most people look so serious when they dance that it is a pleasure to see Miss Joseph who is always smiling. Mr. Leo Well was also there with Mrs. Well who had on a dress of white. Mrs. Bryte, as usual, was looking as smart as ever in a black-backless gown.

FROM MERRIE ENGLAND

Mrs. Felix Joseph was in the same party as Captain and Mrs. Smithers. She was in white satin while Mrs. Smithers had on a dress of pink, while yet another who chose white was Mrs. Denys Reiss. Mrs. Hill, was looking ever so nice in a black velvet dress that fitted perfectly.

Later on in the evening, after "Merrie England" was over, a number of people came over and it was indeed surprising how space was found for them, for as I said before, the place had been quite packed early on. Anyway, I saw the two Mrs. Valentines, both of whom took part in the play, and they gave the impression that they were not in the least tired after an evening in the theatre.

"WITH APOLOGIES"

A friend of mine tells me of an interesting little lunch (Chinese "chow"), which took place a few days ago in the Hong Kong Hotel, and which, I am told may become a regular "date". It consisted of perhaps the three smartest and wittiest ladies in the Colony and one lucky man.

From what I hear, it was a great success, the conversation being varied and so full of wit that the "trio" are now called "The World, the Flesh and The Devil."

I wonder that more people are not attracted by that delightful Chinese Restaurant of the Hong Kong Hotel, especially at lunch time. The menu is a good one and to me sharks fins always sounds so daring, anywhere between Formosa and Bangkok!

"FRAYED NERVES"

Although Xmas is fully a month away, people are already making preparations for it and the shipping companies, as usual, are to the fore again by offering special excursion rates to Manila. I wonder how many people are going to spend their Xmas away from Hong Kong. It seems so unnecessary to do so when there is so much to offer them here but against that there is the argument that a voyage, no matter how short, plays wonders with "frayed nerves," and I was told on good authority, that most husbands' nerves are frayed after the shopping that precedes the celebrations!

"NOT GUILTY" VERDICT IN INSULL TRIAL

Unusual Scene In The Court Room

Chicago, Nov. 24. The seventy-year-old Samuel Insull and the other defendants were acquitted to-day, by the jury on charges of fraud and swindling in connection with the failure of the Insull Utility Corporation after a trial lasting seven weeks. The jury considered their verdict for two hours and two minutes.

Turmoil followed the foreman's announcement, "We find the defendants not guilty." Cheers burst out from every corner of the Court. Wives, relatives and friends of the defendants rushed to the defence table and tearfully embraced the acquitted men. Samuel Insull was surrounded by a crowd seeking to shake hands with him, while he walked to the jury box and shook hands with each of the jurors as they left.

Samuel Insull, after a brief statement, said, "I regard this as the start of my vindication," and he left accompanied by the remainder of the defendants to a club to celebrate the acquittal. Despite the failure of the Federal Government to secure a conviction, Samuel Insull and his brother, Martin, are still due to face State charges of embezzlement by alleged use of company funds for stock market speculations. The State of Illinois indicted them on these charges on October 4, 1932, and they may come up for trial next week, but the date is not yet definite. Samuel Insull also faces another Federal charge of fraudulently removing assets from the Corporation Securities Company, stated in the charge to have been then bankrupt.

CHARGE TO JURY

Judge Wilkerson, in his charge to the jury, gave detailed instructions and told them not to decide hastily, but he made no comment on the evidence. Among the points specially stressed were (1) that the investor is entitled to a complete and full statement before he parted with his money; (2) that it was equally important to find a guilty man guilty as an innocent man not guilty; and (3) that defendant must not be convicted for lack of good business judgment alone or embarking on a losing business venture.

Samuel Insull seemed to be confident of acquittal. He said just before the jury retired, "I will give them two hours, to decide and acquit me."

Mr. Floyd Thompson, counsel for the defence, said after the verdict that he never doubted the verdict and added that the Judge's charge to the jury was the most eminently fair one that he had ever heard.—Reuter.

ACQUITTAL PLEA

Chicago, Nov. 23. A final plea for the acquittal of Samuel Insull and his brother, Martin Insull, on charges of fraud, was made by their counsel, Floyd E. Thompson, to-day.

"He urged the jury to 'remove this stain.' 'Send this old man back to the home his son prepared for him. Send this young man back to his job and his motherless boy,' he appealed.

He said that they were caught by an uncontrollable depression. Mrs. Insull wept silently during counsel's address.—Reuter.

MILITARY ALLIANCE WITH RUSSIA

French Foreign Office Refutes Rumours

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 25, 4.30 a.m.)

Paris, Nov. 24. The French Foreign Office has issued a second and more categorical denial of the alleged Franco-Russian military alliance. Issued on Saturday after the close of the Cabinet meeting the latest statement declares that all rumours of this nature are entirely devoid of foundation.

In French political circles, it is emphatically pointed out that foreigners have attached exaggerated importance to the remarks uttered by Archimbaum, and that the political rapprochement of the last few months between France and Russia had for its sole object the organisation of the peace of Europe and was not directed against any other power.—Transocean Kuo Min.

PRESS OPINIONS

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
Paris, Nov. 24.

The French Press shows itself very reticent in commenting on the sensational hints concerning the Franco-Russian military alliance. The American papers published in Paris, the "New York Herald" and "Chicago Tribune," exhaustively dwell upon these interesting revelations, the authenticity of which is, however, doubted by the "Herald" which states that Soviet Russia appears ignorant of the alleged military alliance. The paper therefore considers it advisable to wait for official information before dealing with the conclusions.

The "Chicago Tribune" has reason to believe that the rumours are causing considerable embarrassment in French official circles because secret military agreements are expressly forbidden by the League of Nations covenants. The paper insists that no such secret military agreement has actually been concluded between the French and Russian governments, but adds that the two respective general staffs appear to have made some arrangements similar to the Franco-Russian military convention of pre-war times.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SOVIET "OFFER"

Moscow, Nov. 23. Doubt exists in semi-official circles that an offer of Russian military aid was ever made to France, as was stated by the rapporteur of the French Military Budget, M. Archimbaum, in the Chamber of Deputies. "Russia has a solid, well-equipped army which she offers us in case of a conflict between Germany and us," he said.—Reuter.

FRENCH DENIAL

Paris, Nov. 23. Absolutely no Franco-Soviet alliance or military agreement exists, a high French authority informed Reuter in Paris in reference to M. Archimbaum's statement in the Chamber of Deputies. The French Government, he said, had never accepted the Soviet's tentative suggestions for a military alliance to which many members of the Chamber opined M. Archimbaum referred when he spoke of the Soviet "offer."

He further stated that France was continuing to explore with the Soviet avenues of approach to an Eastern Pact which would include Poland and Germany.—Reuter.

STATEMENT RIDICULED

Berlin, Nov. 23. Wilhelmstrasse circles ridicule M. Archimbaum's astronomical figures, given to the French Chamber of Deputies, in connection with German rearmament.

M. Archimbaum, rapporteur on credits for the War Ministry, said that Germany would be able to raise an army of 5,500,000 men in 1935. He also said that Germany was building an enormous fleet of aeroplanes.

The Wilhelmstrasse protests strongly against any doubt being cast upon Germany's peaceful policy.—Reuter.

MYSTERY PLANE

Red Army Officer's Story

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 24, 7.30 p.m.)
Stockholm, Nov. 24.

If the statements in Stockholm's "Tidningen" are correct, the mystery about the phantom airman haunting Scandinavian waters for some months past has at last been cleared up. According to a telegram from Helsingfors, a high officer of the Red Army who had recently escaped from Murmansk across the Finnish frontier tells the story that three Soviet aviation grounds besides the military air base at Alexandrowsk exist nearby, all near the shores of the White Sea. These air bases each accommodate forty planes.

The officer, who helped to build these aerodromes, believes that the airplanes seen off the Norwegian coasts are certainly using the Soviet headquarters base.

The paper declares that in the big Russian war fleet stationed at Alexandrowsk there are not only all kinds of aeroplanes, but also destroyers, torpedo boats and other powerful craft.—Transocean Kuo Min.

In order to dispose of misconceptions abroad, the German papers this morning published in extenso the statement Adolf Hitler gave to the leader of French ex-servicemen, Goy, in the course of which the Chancellor declared anew that if, as he hopes, France and Germany come to terms, the world would be relieved of nightmare. Hitler's statement was originally not intended for publication. Since, however, it has meanwhile been published in France and the silence of the German papers hitherto maintained on the subject gave rise to misconceptions in France as to Germany's real intentions, the text of the statement has been released to-day.—Transocean Kuo Min.

HUNGARY'S NOTE TO THE LEAGUE

Investigation Into Issue Raised By Yugoslavia

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 25, 7.30 p.m.)
Geneva, Nov. 25.

In her note handed in to the General Secretary of the League of Nations demanding that the questions raised by Yugoslavia about the political responsibility of the Marseilles assassinations shall be placed on the agenda of the extraordinary League of Nations Council session in January, the Hungarian Government states that a tenacious campaign to which Hungary was subjected since the Marseilles outrage as well as the "baseless" charges imaginable levelled at her continuously, have up to the present moment created a political atmosphere not only fraught with danger for normal relations between certain States in Europe but which may also impair the peace of the world. The tension thus existing has been accentuated by the motion which the Yugoslav Government, supported by the two other States of the Little Entente, transmitted to the League Council on November 22.

The Hungarian Government wish it be known that it is of vital interest to their country to defend the honour of Hungary against intrigues which have no other object but to compromise the good name of the entire Hungarian nation.—Transocean Kuo Min.

STUDENT FRICTION IN PRAGUE

Agreement Reached On Point At Issue

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 25, 7.30 p.m.)
Prague, Nov. 25.

An agreement is said to have been reached between Premier Malypetr and his two German cabinet colleagues, on a point at issue, namely the delivery of old emblems and insignia of the German University here which was the cause of ugly scenes between Czech and German students. It has been agreed upon that the transfer of the insignia of the ancient Prague University to the Czech University would be performed in dignified form without the slightest injury to the German University. Although this would settle the issue as far as the authorities are concerned, the Czech nationalists doubt whether this will remove the cause for the friction between German and Czech population. For the present moment, feeling is still running high. Twenty-two German students were slightly injured by the throwing of stones.—Transocean Kuo Min.

ITALIAN SYMPATHY

Rome, Nov. 24.

Italian sympathy with the Hungarian position resulting from the Yugoslavian charges in respect of the responsibility for the Marseilles assassinations, is definitely proclaimed by an official announcement issued on Saturday reading: "Responsible Italian circles recognise that Hungary has full right to demand the immediate discussion at the League of Nations Council, the charges lodged against her. The Hungarian standpoint will be clearly supported by the Italian representative of the League of Nations itself."

Responsible Italian circles take the view that no nation can rest under such grave charges as those made against Hungary. Italian circles regard the situation created as delicate but do not believe, however that it will lead to more serious complications.—Transocean Kuo Min.

YUGOSLAVIAN THREAT

K.C.C. v. C. D. R.

A. P. Gutierrez's All-Round Display
A. P. Gutierrez's all-round display in taking 4 valuable wickets for 13 runs, and scoring 61 not out was the feature of the Senior Division League game between the Club de Recreio and the Kowloon C.C. which resulted in the surprising defeat of the latter side by 5 wickets.

Batting first, the K.C.C. were dismissed for 61 runs against the steady bowling of A. P. Gutierrez and A. P. Gutierrez. Pereira took 6 for 32.

When stumps were drawn the Recreio had scored 148 runs for 5 wickets. Rodrigues' knock of 57 runs and A. P. Gutierrez's 61 not out were the chief contributions to the total. Hung was the only bowler to meet with any success, taking 3 for 30.

Caer Clark Cup

ST. ANDREWS WIN

On Saturday on the Marina ground, after an all-round superior display, St. Andrew's Ladies maintained their 100 per cent record by defeating the Central British Ladies by four goals to two.

The Saints led at half time by the odd goal in three, Miss P. Gittins and Miss M. Wooley scoring for the Saints and Miss Smith for the C.B.A.

Miss Walker deflected the ball into her own goal in a miscalculation of the C.B.A. goal and Miss Everest netted the fourth to be closely followed by Miss Smith towards the end of the game with a nice goal to bring the score 4 goals to two.

Y. LADIES v. H.K. LADIES

Although they enjoyed the better part of the game, the "Y" Ladies went down to a weakened Hong Kong Ladies' team in their Caer Clark Cup match at King's Park by the odd goal in three on Saturday, all the goals being scored in the first half.

Mrs. Harrop and Miss A. Jacks scored for the Champions and Miss Walker replied for the "Y" Ladies.

C. B. S. v. RECREIO

The Central British Schoolgirls' hockey team have another indication of their improved form when they held the Club de Recreio Ladies to a goal each at half-time in their Caer Clark fixture at King's Park on Saturday. The Ladies' team, however, scored another two in the second half to give them victory.

Miss B. Remedios opened the scoring for the Recreio, but Miss H. Knill equalised before half time. In the second half Miss A. Alves and Miss L. Silva Netto scored for the Recreio.

For the Schoolgirls Miss M. McGaw was outstanding, while Miss B. Remedios and C. Osmund played well for the Recreio Ladies.

"MAMAK" COMPETITION

K.I.T.C. v. ST. ANDREWS.

A fast and exciting "Mamak" Hockey match was witnessed on the Kowloon Indians Tennis Club beat St. Andrews by three goals to two after being two goals down at one period.

The Saints took the lead through E. F. Fincher and Colledge added another. G. Singh reduced the lead but before the interval Pinto equalised for the Indians.

During the second half of the game G. Singh scored the winning goal. At this period the Indians did most of the attacking and bombarded the Saints' goal, where R. H. Wong brought off many good saves.

For the Indians Tara Singh at centre half played a sound game, while G. Singh at centre forward treated the spectators with some nice stick work.

For St. Andrews, R. H. Wong in goal and F. V. Wong at right back defended soundly.

FRIENDLY

NAVY LOWER DECK v. INCOGNITOS

By virtue of their superior forward line the Navy Lower Deck registered their first win of the season by beating the Incognitos by four goals to two, after sharing two goals at the interval.

Harold opened the scoring for the naval team but Pintos equalised before half-time. Simpson and Davis (2) further increased the Lower Deck's score, while Pintos again scored, following the interval.

JUNIOR MATCH

The Craigenrower C.C. juniors fared no better in their match against the Navy juniors at Happy Valley. They obtained 88 runs, of which G. Lai was responsible for 31 and E. A. Lee 22. Douglas took three C.C.C. wickets for 12.

The Naval men replied with 191 runs. Tel. Shaylor obtained 29 runs and L. B. A. Emmerson 28. J. R. Luke took three wickets for 35.

South China "A" Lucky To Win

(BY "PIVOT")

With a very much depleted soccer programme the two senior games on Saturday had their share of thrills.

South China "A" was indeed lucky to have emerged with both points, as the Lincolns gave them a great fight for their money, especially in the second half, when they were playing better than the Chinese.

In the other senior game Navy and the "Rees" shared the points. Pepper, the Naval custodian, played a great game and saved what seemed to be certain goals time and again. A surprise was caused in the third division by the lowly placed Railway in forcing the leaders the R.A.F. to a draw.

South China "A" v. Lincolns

From the start the game was destined to be a hard fought one as both sides were up to form. Tso

Kwai Shing ran down the line and centred beautifully for Tam

Kong Pak to head into goal but Meakin brought off a dandy save.

The Chinese forwards were combining very well and from a corner taken by Tso, Tay Kwee

Liang placed the ball into the net well out of Meakin's reach to place South China ahead.

Tam Kong Pak was playing a very useful and forceful game and he gave the Lincolns' defence

a lot of worry.

Play was soon transferred to the Chinese goal and Wong did well to save brilliantly from Matthews. Ridley's efforts should have been rewarded on more than one occasion, the had positioning of Malpas and Higgins being deterrent.

RUGBY

Club v Army

For some inexplicable reasons three Borderers' players failed to put in an appearance in the Rugby Match between an Army XV and the Club with the result that the Army team played with only 14 men and lost by five goals and three tries (34 points) to nil at Sookunpoo on Saturday.

Club opened the score early at the start, McGilchrist went over following a three-quarter movement. Castleton failed to convert. Immediately after Riggs crossed over after a passing bout with Robertson, the latter converting.

The Army missed several opportunities to score, weak passing of the backs and lack of support in the loose being the main cause. Close to the breather Stewart ended a nice movement when he crossed over between the sticks. Robertson again converted.

After the resumption the Club was all over the Army, doing as they liked with very little opposition offered.

The Club was playing very well together, Turner sending Stewart over for the latter to bring off his second try. The Club failed to add to the points.

The best effort of the game came from McGilchrist who picking up on the run, eluded the whole of the Army pack, ran three quarters of the way to score in the corner. Robertson again converted.

Following this Munro broke away on his own and scored between the posts, Castleton adding the points. Then Riggs broke through after a fine movement for Robertson to convert, once again.

Just before the end McGilchrist added his third try following a splendid solo effort, grounding wide of the posts. Castleton failed to add to the score.

WEEK-END FOOTBALL

combination between Higgins and Ridley nearly resulted in the former scoring. On one occasion from a centre from the wing Lincolns missed a "sitter," Higgins just failing to get his head to the ball.

Towards the end South China nearly increased their lead. Fung receiving from Tso shot over.

Although capturing both points South China "A" gave a very unimpressive display, especially so in the second half when their play was far from being good football.

Navy v. Recrelo
The Navy were the first to attack, Tong's effort just skimmed the bar.

The Gosano brothers after a well combined movement nearly scored and Pepper had to stretch himself at full length to save "Bertie's" ground drive.

Skinner, taking a free kick just outside the penalty area, sent in a great shot that just beat Marques to give the Navy the lead. Shortly after "A.V." missed a brilliant sitter striking the cross bar.

Immediately after the change over the "Recs" equalised thanks to "Bertie's" efforts. Eluding several players "Bertie" coolly passed the ball to his brother who shot well out of the Navy custodian's reach.

A feature of this game was the splendid goal keeping of the Navy keeper who saved time and again from the "Recs" forwards. Some of his saves were very well timed. The Gosano brothers played very well and "A.V." was closely watched to do much scoring although he was primarily responsible for the attacks which were well schemed by him.

The "Recs" wings were also playing quite well but the same cannot be said of their defence. Marques in goal had his share of good play. Skinner and McGuire played well for the Navy.

SECOND DIVISION

South China v. Lincolns
A fast and very even game was witnessed in the first half, both sides attacking in turn. South China missing many openings by delaying and positioning themselves.

On the other hand the Lincolns halves were holding South China well. Maughan being very prominent. Ng Po Kai tested Tay-

East Lancs. 0 S. China "B" 2

In a first division encounter at Sookunpoo yesterday, South China "B" was decidedly fortunate to emerge with both points, as from the run of play East Lancs should have at least shared if not obtained both points.

At the beginning South China attacked and a shot by George Chung slipped through the East Lancs' goalkeeper's legs.

East Lancs retaliated strongly but waste of time in front of goal and their inability to score, robbed them of more than one goal in this half. George Chung had an golden opportunity to put South China ahead towards the end of the first half, but he shot weakly into the keeper's hands with no one in sight.

Their wings were sending in some splendid centres but their passes more often than not, went begging, or the forwards were unable to shoot. From a foul just outside the Chinese penalty area the ball struck the cross bar with the goalkeeper unsighted.

A few minutes before the end from a sporadic breakaway South China obtained their second goal through Li Shek Yau.

R.A. v. POLICE

From the start the Police settled down to real football and the R.A. keeper was called upon to stop shots from Moss and Johnson and in one of the nice passing bouts Moss opened the account for the Police.

Johnson quickly added another and the Police were attacking when the interval arrived. After the restart Moss receiving from Johnson at close range scored the third goal giving the Artillery custodian no chance.

From a centre from the Artillery outside man Brookes had the misfortune to miskick scoring his own goal.

At this stage Pardoe was playing a splendid game, he was all over the field breaking up promising movements now and again and was instrumental in stopping more than one potential goal. Near the end Johnson sent in a driver just outside the area to bring the score to four.

SECOND DIVISION

EAST LANCs v. R.E.

With the score at one all in the first half, the Engineers' defence completed cracked up and the East Lancs added three further goals in the second half.

THIRD DIVISION

RADIO v. R.A.S.C.

After being one up the Radio had to concede a penalty towards the end of the first half. The Radio defence could not stand the heavy strain imposed on them by the successive raids carried on by the Service Corps forwards and broke up allowing them to score four goals in the second stanza.

EAST LANCs v. R.A.M.C.

The R.A.M.C. was successful in holding the East Lancs to a score of one all in the first half but was completely demoralised in the second with the result that the East Lancs piled on three further goals without reply.

British Minister's Visit Ends

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Nov. 25.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, H.B.M. Minister to China, and his party, left Canton this morning aboard H.M.S. Falmouth for Hong Kong. Last night Mayor Liu Chi Wen entertained the British Minister at dinner in the new municipal building at which important military and civilian leaders were present.

The visitors went sight-seeing yesterday morning including crossing the Pearl River bridge and visiting the Chungshan Memorial Hall, the new campus of Sun Yat Sen University, Yellow Flower Hill, the Sun Yat Sen Monument on Yuet Shau Hill etc.

New Japanese Consul

Mr. Tatsuo Kawai, new Japanese Consul General in Canton, has arrived here and will resume his post on Monday. To-morrow he will call on municipal and provincial officials. The new consul will be accompanied by Mr. Tsunao Hattori, who has been acting consul general prior to the arrival of Mr. Kawai.

The new consul general came direct from Tokyo, although his last post was first secretary at the Japanese Legation in Shanghai. In that capacity he conducted publicity on behalf of the Legation. Mr. Kawai, who speaks Chinese and English, succeeds Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe.

Canton-Nanking Relations

Dr. Wang Chung Ku, Judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice, is waiting word at Shanghai from Nanking leaders concerning their opinion on the terms of the Canton leaders. Acting as mediator, Judge Wang informed high Nanking officials that the South-west leaders have adhered to their proposals as embodied in their circular telegrams of September 8 and 25.

The Canton faction desires that their terms be incorporated in the agenda of August 15 as a basis of national policy.

COMPULSORY MILITARY SERVICE KWANGSI

Canton, Nov. 24.

A Nanning report is to the effect that owing to the peace and safety of Kwangsi Province being endangered by the advance westwards of the "defeated communist hordes," the Kwangsi Authorities have decided to adopt the precautionary measures of compulsory military training, and all males from 18 to 45 must be ready to obey the call to arms.

Besides reorganizing the full force of Provincial volunteers, into eight divisions, it has been decided by the military authorities that all males from 20 to 25 must join the reserves, after undergoing two years of active military training.—Nam Wah Yat Po.

THE EXCHANGE MARKET

MESSRS. ROZA BROS.

Saturday, November 24.
The usual speculative support was reported in the London Silver market yesterday. China operated both as a buyer and seller. Rates were unchanged at 24 9/16 for Ready and 24 11/16
for Forward. The closing tone was dull. The price of the metal in New York was 55¢.
Sterling was steady in New York yesterday, opening at 4.99½
and closing at the same rate.

Market
Quiet, the tone was a shade easier than yesterday. The undertone, however, was steady.

Sterling
Opened with sellers at 1/7 15/16, buyers bidding 1/8 for cash resulting in business at 1/8 for cash followed by another transaction at 1/7 31/32 for cash.
Subsequently 1/8 December was done and 1/8 3/32 last week of February. Towards the close business was again done at 1/7 31/32 for December delivery, finishing with sellers at 1/7 15/16 November/December and 1/7 31/32 January, buyers at 1/8 November/
December and 1/8 1/32 January.

U.S. Dollars
Business was done during the course of the morning at 41 11/16 second half January, 41 9/16 for cash and December. The market closed with sellers at 41 9/16
November, 41 9/16 December and 41 1/2
January, buyers at 41 1/2 November/December and 41 11/16 January.

Shanghai Dollars
Business was done at 124½ and 124 5/16 for near delivery. There were sellers at 124½, buyers at 124½
for cash.

Shanghai Market
Sterling opened at 1/4 with a forward rate of 1/3½. The near tone subsequently receded to 1/3 15/16 but reacted to 1/4. The forward market, however, was last advised at 1/3 11/16, the difference being 5/16 from the near and forward markets. Dollars were quoted at 33 5/16 near, 33
1/16 forward. The near rate eased to 33 3/16 but improved later to 33½. The forward rate, however, was weak at 32½.

BERLIN BOURSE

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily
Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Nov. 25.
Saturday's sharemarket was somewhat firmer but the turnover was not great, metallurgicals and electrics showing the smartest recovery. Fixed interest securities were friendly, both branches in the market showing a distinct if not great improvement. State and provincial loans were buoyant.
Call money 3½ to 3½. Young Loans firmer at 96½. Reichsbank advanced one to 149, Dytrusts improved 3/8th to 134-5/8th, Salzdet-furth Fotash rose 1½ to 152, German Steel Trusts 3/8th better at 37-5/8th, German Mineral Oils improved 1/4 to 98½. Siemenshalske sprang 3 to 138½, Bemberg Rayon weakened half to 135. General dullness throughout the week with buyers showing excessive caution was the reason for the decline of general price level in the share market. The Church holiday on Wednesday increased listlessness.
Just as the decline was not attributable to any special outstanding course, so the rise that took place on Saturday was not due to any striking tangible influence.
The most encouraging feature of the situation is that of an international political situation which shows no perceptible effect on the Berlin Bourse and which indicates clearly that in financial circles a satisfactory solution at Geneva is reckoned upon.
Fixed interest securities continued rising and if the daily advances were not great they were at least always in the same upward direction.

Mr. G. A. Harriman's weekly

We experienced a firmer market during the period under review and although the volume of trad-mand at $51. Star Ferries had buyers at $95. Wharves could be obtained at $103. Dairy Farms were still on offer at $22.75. China issues, again attracted attention, having been done up to $9.25.

buyers at $4.85. Cements changed hands at $2.05 cash, and $2.10 for January closing in strong demand at these rates. Providents dealt in at $1.45. Sterling counters were slightly easier with Hongkong Banks in demand at the slightly reduced rate of $1600.

Unions held strong enquiries at

BLASTING CHANNEL FOR SUPERLINER

The task of blasting a special channel to permit passage to the sea of the new French liner Normandie has begun. The draft of the liner has been greatly increased from the estimate when she was first laid down, and is blocked in the basin of the Penhoet Shipyards by an old wreck which obstructs the deepest part of the Loire estuary. The British steamer Vernon sank in the channel in 1893 after a collision with the freighter Penfold. The wreck was partly removed in 1900 to clear the channel for the largest ships then in existence, but no engineer in those days dreamed of a leviathan like the Normandie.
